Description \(revised\)

Oversized MONSTER Triscuit®

Triscuit Thin Crisps Baked Whole Wheat Snacks
~French Onion flavor~
Mmmmmmm

Specifications:

- Weight: 0.9 oz.
- Length: almost 5.5 inches
- Width: 2.5 inches

- Thickness: about 0.7 inches

Warning: Although technically edible, it is most likely a bit rancid. But NO bugs, NO bird droppings, and NO squirrels, guaranteed. (And admit it--does the taste really matter if you're going to mount it into a solid cube of acrylic anyway?)

Here's the story:

While opening a box of Triscuit® Thin Crisps™ here at work, I discovered this very. large. THING. On closer examination, it was part of a roll of the triangular Thin Crisps that never really got separated into separate crackers. At its longest dimension, it's nearly 5½ inches long, and about 2½ inches wide, but it was actually folded over on itself a couple of times before baking, belying its truly epic "laid flat" proportions. All co-workers who have laid eyes on it have either dropped to their knees in reverence, fainted, or mumbled something unintelligible.

For size comparison, one of the photos shows it next to a U.S. quarter dollar and a ruler, and the other photo shows a model of a large 4-engine bomber aircraft (Boeing B-17G) sitting astride the monstrosity.

The town of Algona, Iowa was the recipient of the "Giant Cheese Puff of 2003" from Mike Evans in Hawaii, made famous by another eBay auction. They apparently have plans to professionally mount it. As a fellow Iowan, I am simply bursting with pride that a town in MY state was selected for this honor. While swelled with aforementioned pride I offered this Triscuit to them several weeks ago—not once but twice—but they have not responded and have allowed the October 10 deadline to pass without a single comment. Their loss is your gain.

For larger images, e-mail the seller with your request.

If this Triscuit were a bear, it would eat your car whole. Which, when you really think about it, means absolutely nothing.

Comes packed in foam padding, in the original Triscuit box, mailed U.S.P.S., insured. Buyer pays $10 shipping/handling. U.S. buyers only, PayPal only.

Note:

Hoax bidders have brought the bidding up to $14,999 at one point. Way to go!

Warning:

If your bids are totally unrealistic they will eventually be cancelled. If you don't want them cancelled for you, make the bid & have your fun, then cancel them yourself. If you cancel it yourself, it'll show up on your profile. If you want me to cancel it for you, it won't appear on your profile.

Update:

Matt & Jenna from the KTYD (Santa Barbara, CA) Morning Show interviewed me Friday morning (10-17). They were sorely disappointed that the bidding had dropped from $15,000 to a paltry $15. But we had a good chat, and they (and their producer, Joe) are nice enough folks. They liked the airplane picture (but who wouldn't? It's a B-17, for cryin' out loud!)

Reports of other radio reports on the Super Triscuit are in from California, Georgia, and Calgary.

I respond to every e-mail query I get, so if you have a question, ask it.

Some choice e-mail selections:

what the crap is wrong with you?

A couple of questions regarding the item. I like the grain on the table the Triscuit is sitting on. Is the table for sale? It looks like it would match my dresser. Also, is the B-17G for sale? Do the propellers spin?

dude,
can i buy this and shoot it like a clay pigeon?

Please tell me this isnt one of those dime a dozen reduced calorie monster triscuits...
how have you resisted the temptation to eat that sumbitch?

I am emailing in regards to the MONSTER Triscuit. Has the Boeing B-17G been repainted and are all engines operational? And, is the ruler & the quarter shown in the photo, included with the purchase? And is the Triscuit of the Fat-Free Variety?

Signed,
Colonel Tibbets

I just wanted to say that this is the stupidest thing i have ever run across in my entire life....It's so stupid in fact i question weather or not i should go out to my car and get some garden hose and duct tape and get it over with...this just proves that the world has truely gone to sh*t....

Have a most horrible day in the entire world as well...

you people are sick and mentally disturbed.

Sincerely
the sane world

is this a nabisco triscuit or other name brand?

kind regards,
kenny

Although I don't intend to bid on your "monster tricuit," I must say it is absolutely hilarious. Well done.
BTW: It is now linked on www.fark.com so you should see some bidding action soon!

I used your triscuit item on the radio for a bit this morning, but the price has drastically changed!

I'm guessing someone made a bidding mistake... bummer for you.

good luck with your snack.

Troy. [Calgary]

Grasping the Big Picture

In this auction's short one-week life, the Triscuit has been strangely immune to the emotional stress experienced by its current owner. So the current owner wants to share with you, the auction viewer/bidder, his own pain.

Since the start of the auction, the going price went from almost $15,000 to its current $20. Nothing puts that in perspective like a color graphic showing money!

Imagine, if you will, each of the green rectangles representing a $1 bill. Now imagine a stack of ten of those $1 bills.

The Triscuit price rose quickly to $15,000:

Then dropped to the current $20:

..
Yeah. My thoughts exactly. Might as well have invested in .COM stock.

But what a ride!
